

DUDLEY TO RAINBOW BRIDGE - MARCH, 2008

Adopted 7/4/00

Dudley came into rescue sometime in early 2000. He was what we called a ‘lowrider’ basset because his legs were so short. My aunt took him to her house to foster and fell in love almost immediately. She became what we call a “foster failure” officially 7/4/00.

Dudley fit right in with his new family of friends and was extremely happy to have found his forever home. Shortly after coming to live with Grace, her son asked if he could take Dudley with him on one of his camping trips. She agreed to let him go and from that time on he became one of the group and very attached to Will and his wife Teresa.

Every time Will and Teresa would come to visit Grace he would end up going camping with them for weeks at a time and when he couldn’t go with them, he would bark and cry after them for hours after they left. He became famous with all the campers and they always wanted to know where he was. He had a cult following. He danced with Hooter girls, was decked out in the finest biker clothes and was always the center of attention where ever he went.

Sadly, in November 2007, he was discovered that Dudley had cancer and had very little time left. He started losing weight and succumbed to his illness March 3, 2008. He will be missed by many who came into his life and will forever be loved by his adoptive family. We know he has safely traveled to his new home over the bridge and no longer suffers from any illness. He runs and plays with all the other dogs waiting for that day he will be reunited with his family.

WE MISS YOU SO MUCH “LITTLE MAN”, YOU CAN NEVER BE REPLACED!

Forever loved and never forgotten, your family, Grace, Will and Teresa.
